REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the Citizens and School Committee of Sherman:

The great strain under which we have labored for the past two years is apparently slowly releasing its tension but care has been exercised during this year just past to keep a watchful eye upon expenses and to do all possible to save money without sacrificing the school children now in our schools.

The whole expense for all branches of our schools this year is $1556.59 under the low total of last March. We have spent $27,860.00 for all school purposes during the last two years as compared to a total of $34,500.00 for the two years before that. In other words, our saving for the past two years as compared to the two years preceeding has been $6,640.00. As for the amounts raised by taxation the past two years has been $3,273.00 dollars less than the total of $20,363.00 raised for the two years before that period. These figures are set down to show that the schools have done their utmost to help out in this serious situation through which we have been passing.

COMMON SCHOOLS

In the Common Schools this year definite progress has been made in the matter of Health work and education. The teachers have been faithful in weekly inspections for signs of disease and the one threatened epidemic of the year was quickly detected and stopped with but one case of scarlet fever among the school children.

Each month the children in all our schools have been weighed and those underweight have been furnished milk by the Federal Government when they were unable to furnish it themselves. Hot noonday lunches are served in all the rural schools where sufficient pupils bring their lunch to warrant such action. Here too, the teachers have been very willing to put in extra time.

The most pressing need in this department is textbooks. We have struggled along as best we could with as few new purchases as possible. It has also been found that there is a lack of standardization of textbooks in the various schools. For instance there are in use in the different schools fifteen different textbooks in American History and ten different publications of readers. This matter is being corrected as rapidly as replacements are bought and in a few years, these books will be standardized.

HIGH SCHOOL

The faculty of the High School was decreased by one teacher with the dropping of the Home Economics classes. About the middle of the school year Mr. Tolman resigned from the faculty and in his place John P. Conroy of Portland was hired. With a wide experience in all branches of athletics while at Hebron Academy and Fordham University as well as in professional basketball and football, the new member of the faculty is well qualified to handle the athletics of the school. He is as yet inexperienced in teaching, but being a man of fine character and pleasant personality, he should become a fine instructor. A change in the teaching force during the school year always breaks up the routine of a school but as this report is written four weeks have passed under the new organization and improvement is steady and constant.

The course in Agriculture continues to be very popular with the boys in school and the high standard of work has been maintained. Care is being exercised to not over-emphasize this course at the expense of the other courses offered by the school. The Commercial course is still capably directed by Miss Trimm and the pupils are doing work of a high order. The College course fully meets the college entrance requirements and the Latin classes are well taught and conducted by Mrs. Greaves. In connection with the English work, emphasis has been placed on written work and letter writing and the bug-bear of high schools, spelling, is not overlooked.

CONCLUSION

On behalf of the teachers and others on the payroll I wish to express our appreciation of the efforts of the Selectmen and Mr. Curtis, the treasurer, in meeting the payrolls. Sherman has done better than most towns in the matter of pay for the teaching force. It appears that the town officers have given time and attention to meeting these obligations. Members of the teaching force have received most of their pay and in every case where money was urgently needed, the officials have in some way paid the money due.

Mr. Greaves, as first selectman, also gave the schools a good boost in applying to the CWA for the school-ground improvement project. If this project is not quite completed, enough will have been done to assure our boys a much improved place to play baseball and the grade children will have a larger area upon which to play. To him goes our thanks.

To the citizens we wish to express our appreciation of their assistance in the matter of helpful criticism and help in the matter of programs. The teachers extend a cordial invitation to parents and friends of the schools to visit more often. Methods are fastly changing, and the most approved methods of instruction are being used.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRY E. LEWIN, Superintendent
